OIS Ambassadors Program Application

The Office of International Services is proud to present the OIS Ambassadors Program. The program’s goal is to foster relationships with our existing JHU international student community through active community engagement and by supporting new incoming international students. Initially, OIS Ambassadors started as a Graduate International Ambassador committee; we are now opening this to both undergraduate and graduate students on all campuses. OIS Ambassadors will:

- Support & assist international students in adjusting to the Johns Hopkins community and academic life by means of personal mentorship and our International Bridge program.
- Represent OIS in active academic, cultural, and social programming that is presented or sponsored by OIS.
- Facilitate broader cultural exchange on JHU’s campuses and locations, and to the broader Baltimore and Washington communities.

OIS Ambassadors applications will be broken down by campus, nationality, and areas of studies. Applicants must be able to commit to the following as an OIS Ambassador:

- 1 committee meeting/month
- Coordination with committee student leadership
- Assist in OIS program projects and committee projects
  - Contribution to OIS Google Drive and emails
- Volunteering at OIS events/programming
- Be a point of contact to incoming international students via the OIS website and outreach.
